Equipping today's leaders for tomorrow's challenges.

The Kellogg Rural Leadership Programme has been designed for the Food and Fibre sector.

Kellogg develops Food and Fibre leaders with the skills, confidence, awareness and networks to think and act strategically.

The Programme is for farmers, foresters, fishers, growers and agribusiness professionals who have a desire to contribute strongly to their rural community, Food and Fibre production, processing or profession.

Programme delivered by

The Programme spans three phases and includes a research project.

Phase 1: Leadership and Industry Futures

A nine-day residential phase at Lincoln University, focusing on leadership skills and tools, primary industries strategic direction and complex problem solving.

Phase 2: The Political and Economic Context for Leadership

A five-day residential phase in Wellington. Discussions and learning from industry leaders and political stakeholders, developing knowledge and understanding of advocacy and influencing.

Project Work: The application of tools and skills from the course to deliver a report and presentation on a topic of interest. Presented to colleagues in Phase 3.

Phase 3: Leadership in Practice

A four-day residential phase at Lincoln University, with project presentations, case studies, leadership insights, future development planning and international relations.
